

Language Solutions for Investor Relations

Comprehensive language services and technology that help multinational corporations connect with their global stakeholders

rws.com

We work with corporate Investor Relations (IR) and communications teams to understand the particular challenges of each company, developing specific solutions that address shareholder needs effectively.

Our experience

We translate hundreds of annual reports every year and support our clients with the extended range of communications required for the publication of critical regulated financial content.

Standard Chartered Bank

RWS translated and typeset Standard Chartered's annual report of 340 pages (304,000 words) with 50 rounds of revisions in just 2½ weeks.

We designed a model with round-the-clock support and a workflow that provided assistance throughout the entire process.

Key numbers:

- 20,000+ words translated in 8 hours
- 10+ linguists working 24/7 for 2½ weeks to produce the 340-page annual report on time
- 800+ marked-up pages processed in 8 hours (markup included updates in the English source, client's comments on Chinese translation and linguists' line-by-line review changes)

The challenges of IR content

You need accurate, localized content with no room for misinterpretations

- We have a specialized linguist network with deep understanding of industry terminology, including IFRS expertise, to ensure consistent high-quality translations

Your deadlines are fixed and you need to be prepared for crisis communications

- We offer local and global support 24/7/365, responding rapidly to any inquiry

Your content is highly confidential and needs to be shared in a controlled way

- You can benefit from securely hosted translations through our proven translation management system (TMS) technology

You face constant pressure from the regulatory environment

- We have deep, industry-specific knowledge and understanding of the regulations that impact your content across global markets

You need support across all formats and content types

- We help you manage your financial reports in all formats across different channels – from print to digital and social media

We ensure the content of your financial reports is precise, consistent in every language and uniform from one report to the next. Our global capability makes us timely and responsive, ensuring that your reports are always delivered without delay.

We provide enterprise support for financial documentation across five areas:

Tech-enabled interpreting

Our experts will help you select the best solution and assemble the equipment for your multilingual meetings, and will provide technical support.

Transcription and voice recognition

We provide typescript versions of meetings, presentations, hearings or seminars.

Human and post-edited machine translation

We offer industry-leading AI-driven machine translation technology, as well as high-quality human post-editing services across all media types and formats.

Typesetting and design

We adapt your designs for other languages and cultures. We support multilingual desktop publishing needs for different formats.

Connecting technology

Our translation technology ensures that all financial content is securely received, stored, managed, updated and reused with the same central platform, regardless of the content type.

Our content localization capabilities

In addition to your financial reports, we can also help you localize other financial documentation:

- Presentations for roadshows
- Prospectuses
- Websites
- Press releases
- Regulatory filings
