Intellectual property translations

Our ISO-certified IP translation services combine human expertise with advanced technology to deliver outstanding quality every time.

We have over 200 in-house patent translators with expertise in subjects like biotech, automotive engineering and computing. They are native speakers with extensive knowledge of the language of patents, and understand the requirements of patent offices around the world. Their work is supported by our patent-trained machine translation engines and our translation memory (TM) technology.

Our service goes beyond patents. If you need to translate licensing agreements, legal documents, technical reports or other IP-related documents, our IP translation service covers it all. This includes court-ready translations that meet legal standards.

Foreign filing

RWS offers a seamless global patent filing experience. We strive to make the ordering process as effortless as possible: request accurate filing estimates up front with one click, file into multiple countries with a single instruction, and place and track orders through our online platform, inovia. Alternatively, you can simply email your orders straight to us.

Our foreign patent filing service integrates with our patent translation solution. Get estimates and place orders for translations in each of your required languages, then trust our experts to deliver the highest-quality service.

- PCT National Phase Entry

Intellectual property research

Get data to aid key decision making at every stage of the innovation lifecycle. We provide insights to help you to develop, defend and monetize your IP portfolio. Combining traditional search methodologies with CrowdSearching, the scale of our resources enables us to meet even the most complex of challenges.

Our analysts: Our team of scientists and engineers curate and review complex data to ensure quality and consistency.

The Crowd: Our network of 40,000 researchers in 170+ countries go beyond typical search methods to scour all possible information sources.

Our search consultants oversee each study. They bring hands-on experience, including previous roles as patent attorneys and examiners, to guide the team towards your goals.

Our search solutions:

- Novelty/patentability
- Landscape
- Invalidity
- Monetization
- Freedom to operate
- IP monitoring

Quality you can count on
